

TO PARENTS: If your child is too young to read or is just learning to read, you may want to help your child fill out the Victim Impact Statement. When helping your child, read the directions aloud to your child; talk about what feelings are—Happy, Sad, Mad, Scared, or any other feelings you think appropriate—and what your child may want to think about when he or she is drawing or writing on the Statement. Please do not tell your child what to draw or write. This is your child's chance to tell the judge how he or she is feeling about what happened. If your child would rather draw a picture of a bird, a boat, or write a story about bumblebees, this is OK too. Should your child become uncomfortable in any way while filling out the Victim Impact Statement, reassure your child that he or she does not have to fill out the form unless he or she wants to.
